NOTES FROM THE DIRECTOR

At first glance, Frozen Jr. may seem like just a magical tale of ice and snow—but beneath the surface, it holds a story rich with truth, grace, and redemption. Anna seeks love in all the wrong places—chasing the charm of Hans, only to discover his heart is not what it seemed. How often do we do the same? Yet even as Anna is rejected by Elsa, she keeps reaching out, offering forgiveness, love, and sacrifice. This is the heart of God—a Savior who, though we may turn Him away, continues to pursue us in love. As Revelation 3:20 says, “I stand at the door and knock.” Then there’s Olaf—a picture of childlike faith and joy, reminding us of the fruits of the Spirit: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control (Galatians 5:22–23). He sees the good, believes the best, and loves without fear. Just as Jesus calls us to have faith like a child (Matthew 18:3), Olaf brings warmth to the coldest moments. And of course, Elsa. She believes her gift is dangerous, something to be hidden in fear. But when she learns that love—not fear—is the answer, she begins to walk in freedom. Like Elsa, we too can feel imprisoned by shame or fear. But when we accept Jesus as our Savior, we are set free. The past no longer defines us—so we can truly “let it go” (2 Corinthians 5:17).

Love is an open door. May this story remind you that God’s love is always knocking, always welcoming, always redeeming—and always enough.

Thank You, Frozen Families

To our incredible Frozen Jr. parents—thank you from the bottom of our hearts. You’ve helped manage this big, joyful cast of young performers with grace and patience.

From gathering costumes and building sets to gathering props and keeping everyone organized, your hands have been in every part of this production. But most of all, thank you for entrusting us with your children. It has been a gift to love, encourage, and help grow the amazing talents each of them brings. This show wouldn’t be possible without your support, and we’re so grateful to have shared this season with you.

With love and appreciation,
Mrs. Varoz & Mrs. Ballenger

The mission of the Cornerstone Christian Schools Fine Arts Department is to develop and train the God-ordained artistic talent of CCS students with unprecedented excellence to be given back to God as an offering of praise.
